Local Delicacies & Products

The Three Jewels of Donggang

Bluefin Tuna : Bluefin tuna is nutritious for its high amount of iron, EPA, DHA, nucleic acid and a variety of vitamins. For its tender meat and an almost sweet taste, bluefin tuna becomes an ideal sashimi fish.

Sakura shrimp : The precious Sakura shrimp can only be found in Taiwan's Donggang and Japan's Suruga Wan, and has been listed as a national treasure by the Taiwanese government. Sakura shrimp is an ideal source of calcium, up to 2000 mg calcium per 100 grams, which is 200 milligrams more than the average shrimp. Sakura shrimp is suitable for women, children and patients with osteoporosis.

Oilfish Roes : While mullet roes are a popular specialty of Taiwan, oilfish roes are even bigger, rarer and tastier. These sun-dried roes are usually served in slices with scallions or white radish. Together they make a savory dish that can be enjoyed at any of the seafood restaurants in Donggang.

Wax Apple
The world-famous Wax Apple (Black Pearl), growing on the salty grounds of Linbian, is extremely sweet and crispy.

Chinese Venus, Scapharca subcrenata, Green Mussel, and Many-spined Cockle

The seafood industry of the Dapeng Bay has come to life again after the demolition of old oyster racks and net cages. Today, visitors can take a ferry to the Oyster Shell Island to enjoy diverse fresh clam cuisine with resounding aftertaste.

Shuang Gao Run (Brown-and-white glutinous rice cake)

Also called the "dual brother cake" in Taiwanese, the Shuang Gao Run is made through following the steps:
(1) Grind the glutinous rice into rice milk.
(2) Sieve it and mold it into the desired shape and steam.
(3) Flavor and color it with brown sugar.

Glutinous Rice Cakes

This is the local snack in Donggang Township. The steamed glutinous rice cakes are covered with sliced sausage, fried pork, stir-fried dried shrimps, and is finally topped with stock. The stock is stewed with milkfish and pork chops, and then starched with rice milk. All the ingredients make a fine bowl of the most authentic Donggang Glutinous Rice Cakes.

Taiwanese Meatballs

The cute little Taiwanese meatballs can be consumed within three delicious bites. It consists of a jelly-like wrapping, which makes it look gelatinous and taste chewy. The stuffing inside includes bamboo shoots, shredded pork, and shrimp. It is full of fishing-port characteristics.

Rice Soup

This is one of the most representative traditional cuisines. The hot rice is topped with shelled shrimp, shredded fish patty, small shrimp, fish, and celery sprinkles. Then, it is added with pork-stewed soup and a spoon of minced pork sauce. A bowl of healthy and nutritious rice soup is ready to serve!
